RESEARCH IN FOCUS

The Centre for Public Safety Applied Research (CPSAR) at Lethbridge Polytechnic collaborates with over 43 justice-sector partners to address public safety challenges through applied research. With over 17 active faculty researchers, CPSAR supports evidence-based practices, student engagement, and community resilience. CPSAR projects span policing, corrections, and courts, integrating Indigenous knowledge and virtual reality tools. CPSAR fosters innovation across public safety, emphasizing real-world impact, industry collaboration, and experiential learning to advance social, technological, and environmental solutions. For more info, reach out to Kirsten.Fantazir@lethpolytech.ca (CPSAR Research Chair).
